THE HOME CLUB'S EASY VICTORY.

Settlement of the Trouble Between Brooklyn and St. Louis.

GENERAL BASEBALL NEWS OF THE DAY

All the leading baseball authorities have much to say about the alleged scheme of the Ball Players' Brotherhood. They almost all deny the truth of the story. The home club easily beat Washington. The trouble between Von der Ahe and President Byrne was settled in a compromise. There was an exciting time at the Brooklyn-Columbus

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH. WASHINGTON, September 23,-"It is the season for the annual base ball scare," said President Young, of the National League, to-day, "and hence I was not at all surprised when I read the details of the Brotherhood of Ball Players' scheme in the paper this morning. So far as the League officials are concerned, they will not pay any attention to the matter until the annual meeting in November. Naturally this, with other topics, will come up for consideration, and until the subject is thoroughly discussed there is no telling what we will do about the Brotherhood. Besides, it must be borne in mind that a little over two months ago, when complaints were made by certain players regarding classification and sale of players, the question was referred to a special committee of three with instructions to report the result of their investigations at the annual meeting, which this year will be held on November 13 at New York.

WON'T WORRY OVER IT.

"Although we did not go into details when Mr. Day was in Washington recently with the New York club we talked over the subject incidentally and I gathered from what he said that none of the magnates of the League are inclined to worry much over this proposition. There are several weak points in the plan as put forth in the newspapers, and this is espe-cially true regarding the location of some of the proposed Brotherhood teams. Washington is ignored entirely and some of the cities which have made poor reputations for money making, while members of the Leagus are given preference over the capital. Despite talk to the contrary, there will be a League team in Washington next year, for it is too good a basebail center to be despised, and now that the club is on a good playing financial basis there is no reason why it should not make money for the syndicate which will run it dur-

THE LEAGUE ALL RIGHT.

"The League organizations will be stronger than ever before in their history. This is stue of Pittsburg, Clevelaland and Indianapolis, where the baseball patrons have been remarkably steadfast even in the face of the defeat of their local teams, and I do not believe that any of those interested in these new League mem-bers have any cause to regret the money they have expended to foster and promote the in-terest of the national game. Under all the cir-cumstances, therefore, I do not see anything that is to be gained by the Brotherhood of ball players of any similar organization among the professional ball players of the United States in getting into a snari with the National League until the report of the committee to which I have referred is submitted for consid-

ANOTHER VIEW OF IT.

Forepaugh Said to be Interested-Colonel Rogers' Opinion.

SPECIAL TWIEFRAM TO THE DISPATCH.1 PHILADELPHIA, September 23.—The base ball world is literally on the rack over the pub lication of the plan of the Brotherhood to capture the League. Adam Forepaugh, the circus owner, is out of town, but it is now positively known that he is interested in the Philadelphia end of the scheme, and that his circus lot is to be used as the new grounds. This lot is bounded by Thirteenth and Broad and Dauphin and York streets, and is much larger than the Philadelphia ball park. It is two blocks nearer Philadelphia ball park. It is two blocks nearer the center of the city, the Reading Railroad tracks run along one end of it and three street car lines run within a block of it, going past it on the Thirteenth street side.

Hamilton Disston, the big saw manufacturer, acknowledged that he had been approached and asked to put capital in a Philadelphia club. "But," said he. "I have not the time to attend to it so I declined. I think it will be a good investment and will succeed."

Colonel John L Rogers, Secretary of the Philadelphia Club, said he did not think the scheme was practicable and that he was positive that not a single member of the Philadelphia club was in it. "The slavery of the ball player is delightful slavery," said the Colonel. "The talk about the saic of a player is all wrong. A player is never sold. A club merely sells the right to his services, and the player's consent must first be obtained. In the case of Ward papers were drawn up by which Washington was to have given $12,000 for Ward's services. Ward was to have been manager and captain, and was beside to have received a larger salary, but he absolutely refused to go to Washington and that ended the matter."

DISSTON DENIES IT.

He and Forepaugh Not Connected With the Brotherhood Scheme.

PEPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCHA PHILADELPHIA, September 23.-Among the capitalists whose names have been ment as backers of the new baseball scheme that is to be sprung upon ball patrons next year are those of Hamilton Disston, the millionaire saw maker, and Adam Forepaugh, the great circus man. If the names of the rest of the alleged backers of the Brotherhood have been given backers of the Brotherhood have been given out for publication with as little warrant as those of Hamilton Disson and Adam Fore-paugh, the magnates of the threatened League may rest in peace, for both gentlemen to-day desired being connected with it in any way.

John A. Forepaugh, who is fully authorized to speak for his nucle said: "Mr. Forepaugh has no connection with this league of the Brotherhood, in any shape or form, and you may deny it emphatically."

may deny it emphatically."
"Mr. Disston was found at his house and he said: "No, I have no connection with it at all, though I was approached some time ago: but I told them that I was far too much occupied with my business to go into any such scheme.

I believe that their idea is to get Forepaugh's show grounds, on Broad street, for their ball park, in this city, but as my business engagemonts prevented my going the things. ments prevented my going into the thing, I cannot say anything positive about it."

Buck Ewing and the Giante Think the PERCIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATCH.

Indianapolis, September 23.—The New York club arrived here late last night, tired out with a long and fatiguing railway ride. Whatever rumors are affoat in other League cities egarding the new League and Brotherhood hemes little stock apparently is taken in s not a thing in it. Mr. Day says: "Well, it is not a thing in it. Mr. Day says: "Well, it seems useless denying these romors and statements. The newspaper correspondents continue to earnestly build up new baseball schemes, but there is really nothing in it."

"League playera," Mutric says, "would be foolist to risk their positions in any chimerical schemes, and that if newspaper correspondents comprehended the colossal work absolutely necessary to form another superserial league. schemes, and that if newspaper correspondents comprehended the colossal work absolutely necessary to form another subsenful league, or to create a combination such as is foreshadowed in this Brotherhood scheme they would see at once that the chances are altogether against it, and that it will all end in smoke. Supposing there is anything but to start with," he said, half wrathfully. "It's the worst fake I ever saw. I don't know anything about such a scheme. The scheme was instigated by Coogan at New York, and he is backed up by the New

THE BASEBALL BROTHERHOOD. Al Johnson and His Lowyer Refuse

Disclose Its Purpose. CLEVELAND, September 23.—The officials of the Cleveland Baseball Club were somewhat excited to-day when they learned the details of the plan adopted by the Brotherhood. The first thing they did was to hold a consultation.

To-night they say they will be represented in the League next year, come what may. No member of the club has complained to them, and if any player has a grievance, all he has to do is to mention it and justice will be done him.

do is to mention it and justice will be done him.

L. A. Russeil, Esq., is attorney for Al. Johnson, the local capitalist behind the proposed brotherhood organization. When asked to-day if he had drawn the necessary papers he decline to say a word, save that he could not talk, but would later on. Zimmer denies that he has subscribed for stock in the new organization, and other members of the Cleveland team declare that they do not know anything about the new movement. Al. Johnson even says the same, but his lawyer, one of the most prominent members of the Cleveland Bar, says that he will talk later on, which shows that he at least knows something about the enterprise.

The Philadelphians, who are here, claim to know all about the scheme, but will not give out any information. They also refuse to commit themselves to decline to say whether they will remain in the League if the concessions they ask for are granted. The Cleveland players evidently are not in the secret, and the best men among them are emphatic in saying as much.

THE BROTHERHOOD SCHEME.

Local Opinions About the Alleged New

Baseball Organization. The great topic of conversation yesterday in vesterday's DISPATCH relative to the allege new organization of the ball players' brother hood. The officials of the local ball club, in cluding Director Palmer O'Neil, treated the cluding Director Palmer O'Neil, treated the announcement very lightly, indeed. Secretary Scandrett offered to bet $100 that the brother-hood would have no team at all next year. Mr. O'Neil claimed that the scheme could not be put into operation.

The majority of cranks as patrons of the game, however, were of opinion that there is "something in it." The manager of Exposition Park, while admitting that application had been made for the park, stated that he was not in a position to talk about the matter yet. The players all declined to say whether or not the story was true.

COL. ROGERS' OPINION.

Each League Club Has the Right to Its Players' Service in 1890.

PHILADELPHIA, September 28.-Colone John I. Rogers, Secretary of the Philadelphia Baseball Club, has sent to the Presidents of the League clubs his legal opinion that section 18 of the contract now in force between League clubs and their players (and which is known as cities and their players (and which is known as the Brotherhood contract, having been formu-lated and prepared by that body and accepted by the League), expressly secures to each League club the absolute right to its players' services for the season of 1890.

The Brotherhood After Western Players. MINNEAPOLIS, September 23.—Overtures have been made to several of the crack players of the Western Association by members of the Brotherhood to join the co-operative league. Duke, Hengle and Foster, of Minneapolis; Nichols, Clark and Nagle, of Omaha: Widner, of St. Joe; Burdick, Crotty and Powell, of Sioux City, are among those mentioned. The Minneapolis players do not deny having re-ceived offers, but have not yet accepted.

WITHOUT MUCH TROUBLE.

The Home Talent Win a Tame Game from the Senators - Little Keefe Is Touched Up Quite Lively-Staley Does Good Work -Bnd Fielding by the Visitors. It might be safe to say that if the Senators were the hardest lot of ball players to beat, the Pittsburg representatives would have something like a sure thing in winning the League pennant. This does not mean that Mr. Hewitt's aggregation are altogether to be despised, but it means that they are a few degrees inferior in quality of playing to the players who hall from this city. This fact, or at least the effects of it came in very handy yesterday, as the home players, in tackling the Senators, stepped up to their old position—sixth place. The Hoosiers failed to keep pace with the Giants, and the former took a little tumble. If the Senators were to stay here until the end of the season, and everything went well, the home club might pass more people than the Hoosiers, providing too many phenoms were not tried in the box. Yesterday's game between the Washingt delegation and the local talent was not one of the brightest by any means. The weather was excellent just cool enough for outdoor enjoy-ment when anything exciting is going on. NOT VERY EXCITING.

But there were few, if any, exciting features in the contest, as from the start the home players had considerably the best of it. The playing on both sides was slow, and lacked what Manager John Glasscock would call ginger. Seldom did a player on either side disp.ay even an average liveliness; in fact, the visitors played a tiresome game. They made costly mistakes, just as if they were under lined on the programme and must needs be performed. Staley pitched a rather peculiar game. A times he was very shaky, and looked as if he was about to collapse. Then suddenly he would brace up and strike two or three men out in an inning. In the sixth inning he struck the entire side out, and in the second and fifth struck two men out in each instance. How-ever, he held himself well together at very critical stages, and Carroll caught him admi

Keefe was not a great success in the box. He did fairly well, but he was very unsteady. Riddle, a new man, eaught him, and did fairly well. The latter seems an energetic young fellow, and is very well built. Wilmot evidently had a day off, as he could neither hit

THEY COULDN'T HIT. Wise and Irwin, too, were completely af sea when facing Staley. Altogether, if the Sen-ators do not put up a better game than they did yesturday it is reasonable to expect that ators do not put up a better game than they did yesturday it is reasonable to expect that they'll not win a game in Pittsburg.

The contest began by Carroll being called ont on strikes. Umpire Knight, without doubt, gave the burly catcher a tough deal, but it had to go. Rowe was retired at first base, and Beckley reached first on John Irwin's wild throw to Mack. Deacon White then made a little single more by good luck than by good management, and Jocko Fields thumped the ball over to the left field fence for two bases, scoring Beckley Hanlon retired the side by going out at first.

The Senators tied the score in the second inning. After A. Irwin had struck but Mack made a single to left, and made a clean steal of second. Riddle, the new catcher, then sized Staley up for a long single to center, and Mack scored. Riddle tried to plifer second but was cleverly nabbed, and Keefe struck out.

In the third inning Beckley to third, and a passed ball sent the Deacon to second. Fields knocked a long fly to right field, and Beckley scored on the throw in.

HANLON'S TWO-BAGGER SENT

HANLON'S TWO-BAGGER SENT White home, and Miller and Dunlap went out in order. For the visitors G. Irwin led off with a single, and scored on a sacrifice by Wilmot and a long single by Beecher.

The seventh inning was reached before any more runs were made. Both pitchers did good work up to that point, but when that inning work up to that point, but when that inning was reached little Southpawed Keefe was something of a mark. Beckley led off and was retired at first. White then made a double to left field and Jocko banged the ball out to the left field fence for two more bases, scoring White. Hanlon reached first on a muffed fly by Wilmot, and Miller's two-bagger to deep center field sent both Fields and Hanlon home. Dunlap and Staley each flied out.

The Senators began the seventh also in a lively way. J. Irwin led off and made a single to left, and reached third ou a good single by Hoy to right field. Wilmot's sacrifice sent Irwin across the plate, and Beecher's sacrifice sent Irwin across the plate, and Beecher's sacrifice sent they to third. Wise, however, struck out, and the side was retired. After another inning had been played it was too dark to continue the game and Umpire Knight stopped the proceedings. The crowd was meager, not more than 600 people being present. Following is the score.

Mr. Pratt desires that the Pittsburgs play two games each with the East End Athletics, McKeesports, Braddocks and Homesteaus, that is a home and home game with each club. President Nimick is inclined to grant Mr. Pratt's request.

A series such as above named after the champiouship season is over would be interchampionship season is over would be interesting. It would give the admirers of the esting. It would give the admirers of the amateur players an opportunity of seeing how the amateurs compare with the full-fledged professionals. This would be an attractive feature. The series would also likely be as profitable financially as a series of games with professional teams. Heretofore games with Association or minor league clubs have been financial failures.

There was nothing particularly startling about the performance. Everything was done easily and well. The costumes of the actors were bright and clean, as it they had not been used all summer. With two rings and as many platforms in operation at the same time the big crowds had all they could do to watch the performances. Many wished there could have been one large ring, but with such a number of performers to do their parts in two hours this would be impossible. Second heat. The horses had a splendid start for the second heat. All were abreast when the word was given. Nelson held the pole in spite of Alcryon's game efforts to head him, and at the quarter he drew away until a length opened up between his wheel and Alcryon's nose. Junemont made a dash past Pilot Knox, capturing third place and put in a strong bid for second position. At the half Alcryon shook Junemont off and began to close on Nelson. He succeeded so well that at the three-quarters his nose was even with Mr. Nelson's seat. Nelson did not waver or seem to increase his speed, but Alcryon could not get any nearer. At the head of the stretch he broke and lost two lengths, giving Nelson the heat by that distance in 2:174 Alcryon was second, dunemont third, Pilot Knox fourth, Granby last.

NELSON AN EASY WINNER. Third heat-At 4 o'clock the stallions were called out for the third heat. There was great enthusi-asm when they appeared on the track. They scored four times and then took a rest. They scored several more times before they were off. Junemont was two lengths behind and the others

WHY O'CONNOR WAS BRATEN. Mr. Rogers, the Caundlan's Backer, Returns and Explains. ISPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE DISPATOR. TORONTO, ONT., September 23.—People here were disappointed when O'Connor did not return with his backer, Joe Rogers. Rogers says

O'Connor was overtrained, and adds:
"When O'Connor is O'Connor he can beat Searle, for he is a superior carsman and faster than Searle. Searle has not yet given any definite answer to the offer to give him a race in this country straight away for any distance with O'Connor, and also an offer to match Hanian and O'Connor against him and Matterson. O'Connor could not get a berth in the Alaska. He is probably on his way across now."

OMAHA, NEB., September 23.—Patsy Corrigan, a stone cutter, and Steve Hill, laborer, fought 13 savage rounds here in a barn near Shot Tower last night with two ounce gloves. Shot Tower last night with two ounce gloves. Hill was nearly ten pounds lighter than his adversary, but was much quicker of the two. He got the first blood, and by skillful work soon had the big man exhausted, and finished him without difficulty by terrific right handers in the jaw. The fight lasted about an hour, and both men were fearfully punished.

Sammy Day's Offer. Sam Day, the pedestrian, called at this office last evening and left the following proposition:
"I will bet ony person $100 that I can cover 140 miles in 27 hours, go-as-you-please. If my offer is accepted I desire a reasonable time to get into condition."

CAMPBELL & DICK,

TUCH of the chafing of children under the joints where the skin lies in folds is due to the use of Soap containing too much alkali. In the Ivory Soap there is no excess of alkali, so it can be used in the nursery with the most satisfactory results. When applying it, rub a wet cloth upon the Soap, then wash tenderly, but thoroughly, and rinse perfectly, especially the folds of flesh, with clear water, and dry with equal care. Prof. Leeds, of the Stevens' Institute of Technology, says: "The Ivory Soap, while strongly cleansing, leaves the skin soft and pleasant to the touch."

A WORD OF WARNING.

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the 'lvory';" they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of he genuine. Ask for "lvory" Soap and insist upon getting it. Copyright 1886, by Procter & Gamble. CAUTION W. L. Dougles' name and the price are stamped on the bottom of all weaters against high prices and inferior goods. Take none unless so stamped, nor be deceived by others claimed to be as good, on which dealers make more profit, but send direct to factory, and receive by return mail what you want.
